

Architecture Diagram

This diagram represents the architecture of our project. To summarize it, we have two clients communicating with a server. And a database, only accessible via the server.

